Munitions Boat Fire Perils Waterfront

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Fire in a munitions boat, the freighter Andrea Luckenbach, threatened destruction of industrial area in the vicinity of Pier 29 for five hours today. Explosions of many tons of cartridges was narrowly avoided.

The blaze swept through a large quantity of matches in the forward hold of the vessel while the fireboat David Scamper poured water into the craft.

Shortly before 8 o'clock this morning members of the crew noticed smoke pouring from No. 2 compartment near the bow of the ship where the matches were stored.

Hundreds of stevedores and longshoremen were pressed into service to unload cartridges before the blaze reached them.

More than 3000 cases of matches valued at thousands of dollars were destroyed in the blaze which is believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

The vessel, one of the largest freighters in the Luckenbach service, arrived here Monday from the east.

One Man Car Fight Opened In Oakland

Battle lines were drawn and preparations made by attorneys and officials for what may prove one of the most bitter traffic wars in the Eastbay yesterday when it was revealed that the Key System Transit company has been running one man cars over Oakland lines in direct violation of an ordinance recently adopted by the Oakland city council.

No cars appeared on the Richmond line as far as could be learned yesterday. According to revelations made in Oakland yesterday, the Key System company has been running test cars over the various lines to prepare for the adoption of the new one man car plan, recently approved by the state railroad commission.

Stanley Wood, assistant city attorney of Oakland, who is in charge of the case for the city of Oakland has postponed action on the matter until this morning when warrants may be issued if the cars are carried out.

The city attorney recently informed the Key System that it had no right to operate the cars without the permit issued them by the railroad commission. The city would not permit operation of one man cars in the Oakland city limits. With the operation of the cars by the traction company it is predicted that the matter of jurisdiction of traffic on Oakland's streets will be brought before the courts.

Yule Party For Needy Children Held At School

Children of needy families were entertained by the pupils of Roosevelt Junior high school at a Christmas party in the auditorium of the school yesterday afternoon. The party is an annual event at Roosevelt school.

Damaged and discarded toys are gathered several weeks before the event and are repaired and repainted for those children who receive little attention at Christmas.

A luncheon was served in the cafeteria by the domestic science class of the school to 50 children. The Christmas tree was decorated by the sewing class and wearing apparel was distributed by the home economics department. The children were called for and taken to their homes in the school bus. Miss Gertrude Angle supervised the program for the afternoon.

Richmond Woman Asks Divorce

The couple married in 1920 and according to Mrs. Glackin her husband abandoned her in 1925. T. M. Carlson is attorney for the plaintiff.

NEW PLAN TO ATTRACT PLANTS

Richmond is to adopt the plan of direct personal salesmanship of the city's advantages to eastern manufacturers.

This was decided upon as a policy at the meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday when it was voted to ask the budget committee to set aside a definite sum in the 1929 budget to defray the expenses of two trips a year to eastern cities to impress upon industrial heads the strategic situation of Richmond and the many advantages possessed by this community for a western plant.

A special committee will be named by the chamber to sift "prospects" in advance and the chamber will then name a man to make the eastern trip to sell Richmond.

Suggested By Hays
The action was taken on the recommendation of M. A. Hays of the publicity committee, following the return from the east of Fred Parr.

PARR TO TELL OF FORD PLANS

Plans for the construction of the Ford plant in Richmond will be discussed by Fred D. Parr before a joint meeting of the city council and the harbor committee of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce in the council chambers on Monday night.

Parr, who recently returned after visiting the Ford plant and officials in Detroit will at that time review the progress made at the waterfront site here and tell of the plans which he discussed with Ford officials.

Features of the new car being manufactured by Ford were discussed yesterday by Parr in which he outlined a new device in construction by which vibration is entirely eliminated in the car, he stated. He predicted that because of this and the added speed the new model would exceed the popularity of the previous type.

Miss Ashfield To Preside At S. F. School Meeting

Miss Nora Ashfield, assistant superintendent of schools, will be chairman of the luncheon meeting of the administrative women, directors and supervisors of Eastbay schools to be held in the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco next Wednesday. The meeting will be a part of the teachers' institute and will be attended by approximately 300 women.

Bore Conference Held In Martinez

MARTINEZ, Dec. 12.—Steps incidental to the construction of the Contra Costa-Alameda county joint highway and tunnel were discussed here this afternoon by members of the district board of trustees meeting with Engineer George Posey of Alameda county and Surveyor R. R. Arnold of Contra Costa county.

Location cost and engineering problems that might be encountered were under discussion by the group. Until engineers of the two counties complete investigations, a tentative site, below the present bore, has been selected. Posey's plan for a twin bore was also discussed.

Rock Used To Announce Visit Here

Caremen of old may have announced friendly visits by hurling a beautifully engraved rock into the living room of their hosts, but it remained for George Lohr, Jr., 943 Thirty-sixth street to give a modern angle to the idea.

Lohr's arrival at the home of Mrs. Grace Heath 143 Tenth street was announced recently, when a half pound rock came hurtling through a window, into the living room. It proved to be an ultra modern greeting card of the kind that "hands did not touch."

Investigation disclosed that when Lohr turned his car in the street near the home the rock was thrown by one of the wheels of the car and crashed through the window.

75 GRADUATE FROM SCHOOL

At ceremonies last night in the Richmond high school community center 75 pupils of the high school were presented with diplomas. The ceremonies were witnessed by parents and friends of the graduates.

WIRE THIEVES HUNTED HERE

MARTINEZ, Dec. 12.—Sheriff's authorities today continued the hunt for thieves who Monday night stole a ton of copper wire, valued at $500 from a spot on the highway near the Oak Villa junction of the Moraga road.

The wire was to be used for the telephone lines connecting St. Mary's college with the Oakland central exchange. The wire was left along the highway for the linemen who were to start erecting the poles yesterday morning. The theft was discovered at that time.

Footprints of the suspected thieves and the prints of their automobile tires were found at the scene yesterday by Deputy Sheriff R. L. McNamara and Constable Harry Stow of Walnut Creek.

Ape Boy, Mother Deny Guilt At Murder Hearing

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 12.—(U.P.)—Gordon S. Northcott was returned to Los Angeles tonight after he and his mother, Mrs. Louise Northcott, had pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging them with the murder of nine-year-old Walter Collins.

Norbert Savary, defense attorney, made another unsuccessful attempt to have Northcott transferred to the custody of Riverside county. The motion was denied by Judge O. K. Morton when Deputy District Attorney Earl Redwine said the youth was under observation of alienists in Los Angeles.

Trial was set for January 10, but Northcott, alone, first must be tried here January 2 on an indictment charging him with slaying an unidentified Mexican youth on the asserted "murder farm."

KING GEORGE OPERATED ON TWICE

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(U.P.)—Twice today King George underwent operations to relieve the infected condition of his lung.

The first operation was done this morning.

Tonight, after a second operation, the following official bulletin was issued:

"An operation for drainage of the right side of the chest was successfully performed this evening. The condition of His Majesty is satisfactory."

"Although the pleural localization of infection which necessitated the operation makes the direction of advance move defined and hopeful, there still is the prospect of a long difficult struggle."

The first operation had been performed during the morning. The developments of the day—the two operations which were performed and the calling in of two additional medical men—following the return of the Prince of Wales, brought home to the people with dramatic suddenness the seriousness of the illness which King George has been fighting for the last three weeks.

It is now believed that the operations were delayed purposely to give the Prince of Wales an opportunity to reach home in the event the operations should prove too serious for the king's constitution.

"The king's condition remains satisfactory; all is quiet since the departure of the physicians and his Majesty is sleeping." The United Press was informed at Buckingham palace at 1:30 Thursday morning.

11 RESCUED FROM LINER

CORVOVA, Alaska, Dec. 12.—(U.P.)—Eleven passengers and the crew of the Steamer Starr had landed safely tonight while three large fishing vessels and a steamer were proceeding at full speed to aid the vessel which went aground early today.

Heavy gales yesterday and today wrecked the radio room of the Starr and forced it aground on the southern part of Dark island near Kodiak. The vessel was covered with ice. Its propeller was disabled striking against a reef.

Cars Damaged In Crashes Here Yesterday

No one was injured and four cars were damaged in two automobile crashes reported to the Richmond police yesterday.

A car being driven by L. A. Oatman, 325 Forty-fourth street, collided with a machine being driven by W. Phillips, 338 South Ninth street at the intersection of Twenty-third street and Barrett avenue. Phillips' car was overturned by the crash.

Cars driven by F. E. Rose of Richmond and H. F. Axler, of Albany crashed at Sixth street and Cutting boulevard. No one was injured.

Teacher Called To Sick Mother

Miss Molly E. Vaughn, instructor in the Longfellow Junior high school, was called to her home in Mendocino county yesterday by the illness of her mother, who is reported to have suffered a stroke.

Troops Guard U. S. Party On Special Train

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 12.—(U.P.)—President-elect Herbert Hoover sped in his special train across Argentina tonight, unaware that as the car wheels clicked over bridges, culverts and other danger points guards of soldiers and police were saluting him and then reporting to he had planned to place a bomb along the route of Hoover's train as it approached Buenos Aires.

Manuel Scarzo, alleged radical arrested in connection with the plot against Hoover confessed to police, it was learned tonight, that "Though I am arrested, there (Continued on Page 2)

Red Cross Chapter Given Drive Report

Election of a board of directors for the Richmond chapter, American Red Cross will be held Jan. 9, at a session in the First National Bank building. All members of the group have been urged to attend.

A report on the annual roll call of the group was heard at a session last night.

The membership honors, according to the report, go to the "women's group" under the direction of Mrs. E. L. Scofield. This group obtained the largest number of enrollments. Mrs. Scofield was assisted by Mrs. J. E. Brooks, Mrs. Harry Hammond, Mrs. C. R. Faurrot and Mrs. R. M. Fahrenholtz.

Boy Shot In Hand At Target Match

Charles Giovannetti, 16, of 418 Pacific avenue, is suffering from a wound in his right hand as the result of a target match with the boy friend on the bay shore late yesterday afternoon.

According to police reports, Giovannetti and Silvio Armanetti were holding target practice. Armanetti had the light rifle in his hand while Giovannetti was placing a can on a pole to serve as a target. The gun is believed to have exploded accidentally and the bullet cut through Giovannetti's right hand between the thumb and the forefinger.

The youth was treated by Dr. W. S. Lucas at his office. The wound was reported as not serious.

Assessor Fee Suit Brought To Trial

MARTINEZ, Dec. 12.—County Assessor George Meese won his first skirmish today in a suit filed against him by the county of Contra Costa, seeking judgment for $910, alleged to have been collected by Meese in 1924, 1925 for preparation of assessment rolls for cities and municipalities.

Attorneys took advantage of the presence here today of Superior Judge William Butler of Marin county to bring the case to trial. Judge Butler sustained a demurrer of Meese to the action, allowing 10 days in which to amend the complaint.

Institution of the action was on the recommendation of the 1926-1927 Grand Jury which maintained that the fees collected should have been turned over to the county.

The suit virtually amounts to a test action, since the policy of fees retention practice by Meese is in vogue in every other county in California.

The defense declares that the law states that the assessor in preparation of assessment rolls for municipalities and districts "may charge" a fee of seven cents a folio and does not specify the disposition of the money. Meese also points out that either he or his employees who are reimbursed prepare the requested rolls outside of the usual office hours and that it constitutes an accommodation for municipalities and districts.

Judges A. E. McKenzie and H. V. Alvarado were disqualified from hearing the case and the visit of Judge Butler afforded the opportunity of proceeding. J. E. Rodgers and A. F. Bray and Leo Torney are attorneys for Meese and District Attorney A. B. Tuning is handling the legal work for the county.

Heinrich Declares Buckley Will True

MARTINEZ, Dec. 12.—E. O. Heinrich, Berkeley, criminologist and handwriting expert today declared that the will of the late Mrs. Frances Buckley of El Cerrito, leaving all of her $6000 estate to Mrs. Nellie Glover her friend, was genuine.

As the result of the testimony, Judge William Butler of San Rafael ordered all testimony recorded and the matter continued for final determination by Judge H. V. Alvarado in Sacramento county.

The genuineness of the will was tested on the demand of Henry Hooker, alleged creditor of the Buckley estate, who charged fraud and undue influence on the part of Mrs. Glover. Hooker's claim on the estate for $3960 alleged payment for services rendered was held in abeyance pending determination of a suit for that amount awaiting trial in Sacramento county.

BUSINESS PROSPECTS

Now that the election is over it would seem from present indications that Uncle Sam is to continue his march along the high road of progress and prosperity. It may be added in passing that the campaign this year had little if any disturbing effect on business and the year 1928 seems to have pretty effectually disposed of the old bugaboo of hard times and uncertainty during presidential campaign years.

In a recent statement on the economic situation in the country, Charles M. Schwab, one of America's leading industrialists, declared that the nation is still on the high road of prosperity and that the prospects for the immediate future are unusually favorable.

Continuing, Mr. Schwab said:

"The unemployment which existed in some measure a few months ago has lessened. Workers generally are now fully employed and at good wages. The relations between labor and management were never more harmonious, due to the wise attitude of cooperation and conciliation existing on both sides.

"Business sentiment is good. This is particularly reassuring in view of the fact that we are to elect a new President of the United States within two weeks. It indicates that there exists little apprehension as to the results of the election and their probable effect on business.

Prosperity, Mr. Schwab admitted, had not been as kind to the farmers as to our citizens in other walks of life, but even here he saw the sign of improvement.

The signs for the farmer are indeed not discouraging. In the campaign both parties promised to help him as much as possible by legislation. These pledges will doubtless be carried out in the near future both by the enactment of special farm tariffs and in laws designed to solve our marketing problems. This is entirely as it should be and congress will doubtless be in a willing and even anxious mood.

One of the hardest hit has been the corn farmer. In a recent statement Secretary of Agriculture Jardine declared that the corn situation is improving due in part to the fact that the crop in Europe will be 23 percent less than last year and that this will doubtless create an export demand. There was a very small carryover crop of five percent from last year, he continues and the new crop is estimated to be less than five percent greater than the yield of 1927.

The signs are generally encouraging from the agricultural standpoint and there is evidence on which to base the prediction that the year 1929 will witness a big step in the improvement of the agricultural situation in the United States.

AMERICA AND THE PLATT AMENDMENT

In the 30th year after the war for the liberation of Cuba and with a convention of American survivors of that war held in Havana in honor of the anniversary, President Machado of the insular government told the United Spanish War Veterans that the Platt amendment should be repealed.

If there is a plan in Cuba to have it abrogated, the place to make it known undoubtedly was at just such a gathering, which might be expected to have very matured views on the matter.

Abrogation is not to be opposed in any dogmatic spirit. Many tides have flowed in and out of Havana harbor in 30 years. However, in 1906-09 the troops were back again in the island to quiet armed factionalism and in 1920 we had to send a special plenipotentiary to iron out a lot of things under a threat of intervention. Is politics so tame and security so stabilized that we will never again have to use intervention or threatened intervention as a deterrent? A settled arrangement that has never worked harm to Cuba and, in view of its history, is an agreeable souvenir rather than an affront to sensibilities, is not to be disturbed without long consideration.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

What Shall I Wear?

By JUDIE

Black transparent frock subscribes to a circular skirt, wide girdle and slip-through lace collar.

Dear Judie,

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

Please suggest some way of introducing lace on a black velvet or crepe satin frock appropriate for a generously proportioned figure. I cannot wear wide collars and I must have a certain softness of line in the bodice. I have a large bust but am slender enough in the hips. I want a dress for afternoon wear under a fur coat, something I can also wear for restaurant dinners.—MATRON.

Your dress should have a V-neckline outlined with lace not more than two or three inches in width and in a mellow tone, not white. The model shown elongates the line further by a narrow pleated jabot. Anything that will lengthen your waistline a long chain is a help will detract from your bust measure. Needle to say your dresses should be loosely fitted, a slight blouse over a low waistline would seem advisable.

Yours for Style,

JUDIE.

Automobile accidents in a single year in the United States are responsible for bringing to the hospital enough injured persons to populate the states of Arizona, Delaware, Nevada and Wyoming.

BEAUTY

One of the most important items in keeping your hair smooth and glossy is a daily scalp massage. You needn't be worried about waving because all you have to do is to push your fingers up under the hair and grasp the scalp firmly with all eight of them. Wig the thumbs down behind the ears, work them around with a rotary motion, pushing hard into the scalp. Then, holding the thumbs where they are, work the other fingers around on the scalp in the same way. Then move the thumbs up on the head and repeat until you have loosened and stimulated the entire scalp.

This stimulates the circulation and loosens dandruff and dust which are then removed by a vigorous and prolonged brushing with a stiff, clean brush.

A few hours before your shampoo, give your scalp its usual massage and then rub over the entire surface with lotion soaked in hot olive oil.

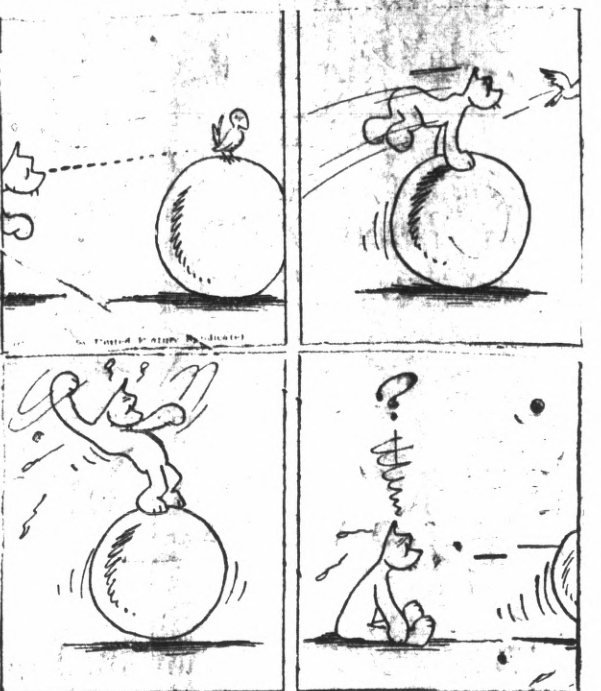

Massage and brush your scalp and hair before you cleanse your face at night.

The dandruff and dust that are loosened by this treatment will fall on the face and neck and should be cleaned off before they can do any damage to the skin. It's rather a silly waste of time to cleanse the face carefully and then smudge all sorts of things on it from the hair.

Don't forget the importance of a clean brush if you want your hair to be healthy and attractive. Wash it frequently in soapsuds and warm water to which has been added a few drops of ammonia.

Tax Collectors Ordered To Be More Polite

PARIS, Dec. 10.—(U.P.)—"Collect taxes with a smile" is the substance of instructions issued by the Ministry of Finance to agents, clerks and other employees of the ministry charged with the collection of taxes.

The order specifically forbids the use of abusive language, discourtesy of any kind, useless insistence, and bullying.

The agents of the treasury are asked to "perform their complicated duties in a spirit of good nature and conciliation. Some, advanced in years and perhaps over-worked, have sometimes shown a tendency to lose their tempers. Others, too young perhaps, have on occasion made a distasteful parade of their superiority and bragged of their professional knowledge only recently acquired."

The order was issued. It is explained, in reply to numerous complaints received at the Ministry.

REVOLT SHOWN IN BARRYMORE PICTURE

The outbreak of the Russian revolution a decade ago recently was re-enacted so realistically at the United Artists studio in Hollywood that residents thought the film city was being bombed.

All afternoon and far into the night rifle and machine gun fire shouts of thousands of people and the clatter of Cossacks as they rode through the streets of the motion picture Petrograd could be heard over an area of several blocks. At night the huge searchlights used in the scene provided a pyrotechnical display that was visible for miles.

Hundreds of people, including some former members of the Russian cavalry who had fought in the late Czar's army in the days before the revolution were recruited for the spectacular action part of John Barrymore's latest motion picture, "Tempest" which is appearing at the California theater.

Beware of Bachelors

Copyright 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.

"BEWARE OF BACHELORS" with an All-Star Cast, is a Warner Bros. production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS
Dr. Davis and his wife, May, have been quarrelling. Davis is jealous of Beranger de Brie, a perfume manufacturer, and May is jealous of Myra Pfeiffer, an artist. They have just made up when Davis receives a supposedly professional call. He finds Myra in a restaurant, pretending illness. He believes her story and takes her home. On opening the door for her he thoughtlessly pockets the key. May, becoming suspicious, follows him and sees him with Myra. She gets Beranger and they go to a cabaret, from where she telephones Myra's apartment and tells her husband her whereabouts and says that she is with a man.

The music started again at a signal from the violinist.
"Do you think we'd better dance this?" Beranger questioned timidly.
"It sounds frightfully rough to me."
"Oh, yes, lets," May decided. "I love it."

Beranger sighed, and started out with May onto the floor.
Once more the crowd pushed and jostled, awayed spun around. Then a dim darkness, concealing faces and forms. A rushing, pushing, laughing throng. People snatching at other people, unseeing. Good natured raillery, silly jokes. The lights came up.

May found herself in the arms of a husky looking youth with a red nose.

"Where's the man with you?" he demanded, almost as much as a nod or a "how-do-you-do."
"My man? His name's Beranger. He was in a mood that he had no good to anyone. And now she was thoroughly frightened at what she had done."
"You tell me where he is!" Davis insisted. "I'm going to break every bone in his body."
"Now, Ed, dear, please!" May began. "Don't talk so loud. Everybody'll hear you."

"I don't care if the whole world hears me," Davis retorted. "I want to know where that man is, and if you don't tell me I'll—"
He raised his head, sniffing. The odour of a familiar perfume assailed his nostrils. "It's that—this perfume," he muttered. "What kind of a cat's paw?"
With a quick gesture he sent the table over sideways. The crumpling figure of Beranger was exposed to view. May jumped up, shrieking.

The entire cafe seemed to come to life. People got up, stood on chairs to see over others' heads. Some made for the door, terrified at the row. The manager came hurrying over. But not before Davis had picked up the terrified man and with a tremendous shove sent him sprawling across the room and into the midst of the orchestra. With a loud cry Beranger leapt to his feet and ran.

May looked at her husband, anger and embarrassment written all over her face. She picked up her hat and without a word, started away from the scene of action.

"Oh, no you don't, my lady," Davis caught hold of her arm and spun her about.
"Look here, what's all this fuss?" The manager of the place took hold of Davis.
"Nothing at all," Davis returned sharply. "My wife and I are just having a friendly quarrel." He smiled a lingering smile and winked at the man. "Suppose you just have the table set up again, and we'll continue the party." A five dollar bill exchanged hands.

"Yes, indeed, sir," briskly the manager motioned to a waiter and gave orders. The orchestra broke into a loud, lazy tune. The people at the other tables started to dance, feeling that the fight was finished.

"Well, if you think you can handle me this way," May began, trying to pull away from her husband's restraining hand.
"Now you sit down and we'll argue this out," Davis interrupted, thrusting May into a chair and seating himself beside her.
"There's nothing to argue about," May retorted.
"Oh, yes there is. You can start."

Parents Honored In Annual For Junior Pupils

The "Whisper" annual of the senior class at Roosevelt Junior high school, came into existence yesterday afternoon. This edition of the annual is unique in that the dedication is not to any member of the faculty as has been the custom in the past, but is dedicated to the mothers and fathers of the pupils.

Class photographs, club activities and original compositions in prose and poetry are featured in the magazine. The cover design is particularly interesting.

erstwhile partner again. But his eyes met a deathly spread terror through his very soul. His jaw dropped; his eyes stared. "Oh, little-of-the-valley," he breathed, and with one startled cry he slid off his chair and went under the table.

"Well, what?" May gazed at the disappearing figure of her escort, and frowned in bewilderment. "What's the matter," she demanded, trying to peer beneath the cloth.

Beranger's gestures frightened her. He looked as though he had gone insane. She half rose, as though to signal for help. Then she, too, stared, and sank back into her seat. There in the doorway, his eyes searching the room, stood Ed.

For the moment May was startled into quiet. She had thought even hoped that Ed would follow her here. The reason for her giving him the name of the cafe. He would see that she, too, was having a good time, and just as good a time as he could have. But as he stood there, it was borne upon her that the package she had gone a little too far, and that she had got her perturbed acquaintance into a hole.

But she had little time to think, for Davis had already spotted her, and with a grim, set face and determined stride, he was crossing the room.

"Where's the man with you?" he demanded, almost as much as a nod or a "how-do-you-do."
"My man? His name's Beranger. He was in a mood that he had no good to anyone. And now she was thoroughly frightened at what she had done."

TROOPS GUARD HOOVER ON TRAIN

will be others who carry out my plans.

Almost every yard of his route was under guard of some sort after discovery Tuesday of an anarchist plot to kill him.

A few hours before Hoover boarded his train at Santiago Tuesday night for his journey across the Andes mountains to Buenos Aires, the secret police here, as a precautionary measure, began rounding up all known anarchists. They planned to prevent a recurrence of anti-American demonstrations that followed the executions in the United States of the radicals Sacco and Vanzetti.

Map Found

Descending upon a rooming house in the suburbs of Belgrano, the secret police went to the room of Manuel Scarzo, listed as a radical. They found a railway map of Argentina, with a red pencilled line along the route Hoover was to follow from Mendoza, on the eastern slope of the Andes, across the wide Argentine pampas.

In corners of the room, secreted, they found several bombs, pistols, a supply of ammunition and counterfeit notes.

As the police searched, two young women, both under 18, entered the room. One was Scarzo's sister, the other was his fiancée. They protested amazement at Scarzo's activities, but in their handbags police said, were supplies of anarchistic literature.

Girls Arrested

All three were arrested. On the information in papers they found in Scarzo's room, police sent out an alarm for Ceterino Castro, a Spanish chauffeur. It was hinted that other arrests were imminent.

No time was lost in acting on the deductions the police drew from their discoveries in Scarzo's room—that there was a plot against the life of the American president-elect. Guards were rushed from military and police barracks here and at other available points to guard every spot along the trans-Andine railway that might furnish a rendezvous for Hoover is due here Thursday evening. By that time, it is assured, every known radical in the city will be under arrest or under close surveillance.

NEW PLAN TO ATTRACT PLANTS

Parr, who gave a glowing account of the immediate possibilities in store for Richmond in the way of new industry which he visualized as a result of his own trip to 14 other cities.

First S. Newsum of the committee in charge of the tenth annual chamber program reported that the work is now well under way and that a substantial petition stand by Richmond citizens will shortly be filed with the county supervisors commending the city for the right of way work and urging that the road be widened enough to conclusion as early as possible. The directors voted approval of the plan as a special resolution which will be forwarded to the supervisors.

Resolutions for the annual meeting tonight of the Chamber of Commerce include a record of the year. It was announced that four new men are to be nominated for director, seven to be elected at an election on Dec. 28. Nominations will be from the floor.

The program for the annual meeting as outlined yesterday will be as follows:

Master of ceremonies—E. B. Bulfinch

Treasurer—J. F. Brooks

Guest of honor and principal speaker—Mayor James Ralph, San Francisco.

P. M. Sanford, president of the chamber, general report on the year's work.

SHOP EARLY AND SHOP IN RICHMOND

Richmond possesses many advantages to the shopper but there is one in particular which seems to have been generally overlooked—the case of parking.

Parking space is at a great premium in Berkeley, Oakland and San Francisco, so much so that one must some times go as far as eight blocks from the desired shopping point to find space at the curb. This condition grows worse each day.

Richmond offers the shopper easy parking space under reasonable time limits either directly on Macdonald avenue, or on any side street adjacent thereto. No motorist need go more than a block out of his or her way to park a machine in Richmond.

When one remembers that Richmond stores offer attractive stocks, good service and prices that are sharply competitive, there seems little reason for any Richmond buyer taking his or her dollars out of town.

"Industry Has Put Richmond On The Map—Keep It There By Increasing And Developing It's Harbor Facilities"

And Bruce Parks, junior student of the Richmond Union High School, continues to tell "The Value of Harbor and Industrial Development To the City of Richmond" in his article entered in the prize contest, awards for which will be announced on or after December 20th.

Writes young Parks: "Ever since the Standard Oil Company saw the advantages afforded by Richmond and wisely chose it for its great plant, Richmond has prospered.

"If there were no harbor and shipping facilities in Richmond, there would be no industry.

"Harbors bring industries, the industries bring people and the people in turn bring more industries.

"Industries have made Richmond, now it is up to Richmond to make the industries.

Five cash prizes—$25, $20, $15, $10, $5—will be distributed to the winning contestants on or about December 20th by the Parr-Richmond Terminal Corporation. The judges of the contest are: Mayor Mattie Chandler, W. T. Helms, Superintendent of Schools; P. M. #### A RICHMOND FORECAST

The business district has begun to spread from Sixth to Sixteenth Streets and from Chamber to Barrett Avenues. We have every evidence of this fact before our eyes. Why the substantial Kress Building on Macdonald Avenue? Why the proposed Montgomery Ward Building on Ninth and Nevins? Are they for the trade of today, or tomorrow? Think this over and decide to own a piece of property within this district.

AMENDMENTS SOUGHT TO CODE

Many important amendments to the state motor vehicle code, proposed to increase safety and facilitate traffic, have been approved for recommendation to the legislature by the executive committee of the motor vehicle conference, a group of state officials and representatives of motoring and traffic organizations headed by Percy E. Towne, a director of the California State Automobile association. The conference sponsored the original California vehicle act and has recommended to subsequent legislatures refinements in the code to keep pace with modern conditions. Its executive committee has practically completed the task of working out the many suggested changes in the law and of amendments scheduled for adoption by the conference. The more important ones are summarized by the legal department of the State Automobile association as follows:

The right of way rule has been changed to provide substantially as follows: When a vehicle has entered the intersection first, it shall be entitled to the right of way. When two vehicles enter an intersection at the same time, the driver of the vehicle on the left shall yield to the driver on the right. The driver of a vehicle within an intersection intending to turn to the left shall yield to any vehicle approaching from the opposite direction which is within the intersection, or so close thereto as to constitute an immediate hazard, but said driver having yielded and having given a signal as required by law may make such left turn and other vehicles approaching said intersection from said opposite direction shall yield to the driver making the left turn.

Upon approaching a through highway or boulevard, the driver of a vehicle who has come to a complete stop as required by law, shall yield the right of way to other vehicles within the intersection or approaching so closely from the left as to constitute an immediate hazard, but said driver having so yielded may proceed and other vehicles approaching the intersection from the left or right shall yield to the vehicle so proceeding.

PENNEY PLANS 500 NEW STORES

Announcement of an expansion program including the addition of 500 stores to the J. C. Penney chain was made in New York yesterday by directors of the company according to information received last night by M. E. Hantelton, manager of the Richmond store.

The expansion plan, the announcement said, does not contemplate the purchase of any other chain or any individual stores but will be confined to the opening of new stores in cities and towns where there is no J. C. Penney representation now.

There are now 1100 stores in the Penney chain and the expansion program will give the firm a total of 1600 by the end of 1929.

The new stores will be established throughout the United States. The company now operates 75 stores in California and with the number to be added to this state there will be in excess of 100 stores by the end of 1929. Total sales of the company for the last year amounted to $190,000,000 and it is estimated that by the end of 1929, with the additional stores, the company will have a sales record of $250,000,000.
